

Dear Hiring Editor/Manager,

My name is Angel Chang, and I'm graduating from college in a month.

I am punctual, detail-oriented and hardworking — but I know these qualities are trainable. What I possess inherently and deeply is a curiosity about the trends of human consumption. I believe that not only how a person lives, but also how she forms philosophies and ideas, critiques, dresses and eats play critical roles in reflecting the essence of her tastes.

I believe that, in addition to being a brand that engages audiences through pop culture, entertainment and art, Konbini may be the exhibitor of such a notion — of the fact that these areas of passion and consumption can be explored and refined. I want to put my efforts into optimizing all sorts of online content, and to facilitate in boosting audience views. But perhaps more importantly, I simply want to work with great, talented people — to mobilize their visions and objectives.

Through my internship experiences at BBC Travel, First We Feast (Complex Media) and amNewYork, and through my experience as the previous dining editor at The Washington Square News, I have learned to do one important thing: have empathy. I sense what people need, and learn to know what they want. I learn to create solutions, as well as to be aware of restrictions.

I work really well within a team of people. I also don't get frazzled when under deadlines and pressure, or when multitasking.

I would love to contribute my energy and dedication to your team. Thank you for your time and consideration. I look forward to hearing from you.

Best,
Angel Chang